ROOS VAN DE VELDE

ABOUT

Growing up in a rural region in Belgium, Roos Van de Velde developed a passion for pottery at a young age. As she lived across from a brick factory, she would sculpt her first clay creations using the rich, loamy soil from her surroundings. The wood-fired bread oven, in which her mother baked bread every week, became her canvas. It was not much later that she swapped the countryside for the city of Antwerp to pursue her studies at the Royal Academy of Fine Arts.

Today, Roos Van de Velde is known to be a visual artist that has a deep connection with nature. Her artistic creations embody this profound bond, with nature serving as the underlying theme throughout her artworks. Embracing an intuitive approach to her work, Roos leaves space for coincidence, allowing the art to take on a unique character. This philosophy is also extended to the production process, resulting in exceptional and one-of-a-kind pieces of art.

ODE TO THE EARTH

Roos Van de Velde's new tableware collection in stoneware brings an ode to the earth. The connection with mother nature and its endless supply of inspiration continued to fascinate her in every sense. Impressions of natural shapes and textures are the subject of this series. In essence, it is a collection of all kinds of finds from nature.

The absence of a potter's wheel in the creation of this collection results in an organic and dynamic artistic process. Each piece is shaped by hand, allowing for minor deformations that are not seen as flaws, but rather as enhancements that add character and uniqueness. Just as nature produces one-of-a-kind wonders, no two pieces in this collection are identical, making each creation an exceptional piece of art.

The collection also represents opposites, like yin and yang, that coexist and complement each other. As such, a light clay and a dark clay were chosen.

Glazes are also applied only where necessary, emphasizing the contrast between rough unglazed surfaces and smooth glazed surfaces. The unglazed parts add depth and character, while the glazed parts provide a touch of elegance and refinement.

All in all, the collection creates a harmonious play in which a symbiosis is born.
